WHEN: Tuesday, April 20th, 1 pm

WHERE: California State Capitol

WHO: Assemblyman Jared Huffman (D-San Rafael) – Bill Author

Cynthia Toussaint – Spokesperson and Founder, For Grace and pain patient – Bill Sponsor

Dr. Scott Fishman, Director, Pain Management, UC Davis

Assemblyman Jared Huffman (D-San Rafael) authored the Bill which requires health insurers to report a little known practice called Step Therapy or “fail first.” Step therapy is used by many health plans to help control health care costs and requires patients to try various medications and/or treatments before having access to the one originally prescribed by their doctor. Patients are forced to remain suffering and jump through bureaucratic hoops rather than having access to proper treatment. AB 1826 is a first step toward prohibiting health care plans or health care insurers from forcing pain patients to experiment with a different medication or treatment than the one prescribed by their physician, resulting in lower health care costs for patients.
